CHAPTER-2 True Religion

A. Answer the following questions:

1. A secular state is the one who give equal respect and status to all the religion in the eyes of law and give freedom to all citizens to choose their religion. India is called a secular state because it does not have any state religion and people are free to practice any religion of their choice.

2. The creater of the universe is known by different names. Hindus call him as Ishwar, Bhagwan, Parmatma, etc, Muslims remember him as Allah, Christians call him as God and Sikhs have named him as Wahe Guru.
3. The holy scriptures of different religions are:

Hindus — Vedas, Gita and Upanishads
Muslims — Quran.
Sikhs — Guru Granth Sahib.
Christians — Bible.
4. The life of Mother Teresa taught us to do good deeds, be truthful, behave with love and affection to all, obey your elders and never be angry. Always be polite and respect all the religions. Do not hate anybody and have faith in God, as well as be kind to all living beings.
5. Religious understanding is very necessary because sometimes believers of different religions quarrel among themselves in the name of religion. Some people even thinks that their religion is the best and other religions are inferior.
6. All the religions have many common things among them, we can say this because:
 - (1) All religions teach love towards the entire humanity.
 - (2) All religion insist on inculcation of virtues like compassion, forgiveness, friendliness and truth etc.
 - (3) No religion preaches hatred, bitterness, enmity and conflict.
 - (4) No religion believes in theft, falsehood, dishonesty, greed and violence.
7. We can achieve communal harmony in India by giving equal respect to all the religion.
